

ABOUT EMMA CRAWFORD

Emma Crawford, a young woman seeking the mineral springs "cure" from tuberculosis, came to Manitou Springs in the 1800's. In 1891 Emma Passed away from sickness and they buried her on top of Red Mountain.

After several years of rain and harsh weather conditions, Emma's remains slid down the mountain into the canyon below. The only remnants were her name plate and silver handles from her casket.

In honor of Emma Crawford, Manitou Springs proudly hosts the annual Emma Crawford Coffin Races, a lively and unique event that celebrates our town's quirky history and invites everyone to join in the fun
